The Game of Life

Life is a game

Everyone racing for money and fame

Not me because successes doesn't have a specific date

Help the people that helped you

The people that help you get through the dark

They were that spark that made the flame

If you get lost you have yourself to blame

To help yourself you need to help others

Like your sisters and your brothers

Help people on the street

Make sure they have something to eat

Try to help them to there feet, because people just close there eyes and walk away

What if it happens to you one day

Not everyone has a dollar to spare

But the world isn't always fair

We need to work as one

We all live under the same sun

We all need to think smart

Wars have happen from the start

Lets try not to rip earth apart
